CASABA ROOTERS TO HAVE SPECIAL SECTION TONIGHT

Spartan rooters at the State-Pre-Flight basketball game tonight in the Civic auditorium are urged to sit in the roped-off organized rooting section planned by Lorraine Titcomb, rally committee head.

Although plans for the addition of the college band to the rooting section had to be dropped, Yell

Rally Head Titcomb has called a meeting of all students interested in being members of her committee. Only those who show up at the meeting today at 12:30 in the Student Union will be qualified to fill the membership total of 25. Plans for rallies to be held during the quarter will be discussed by Miss Titcomb at the meeting.

Leader Ed Kincaid will be on hand to take charge of the activities. Miss Titcomb asks that men wear white shirts and women white blouses. Rooter's cap will be a "must" for all rooters.

The organized rooting section tonight will be the quarter's first. It is planned that such a section will be formed at every major basketball game throughout the quarter, and it is hoped that as much spirit will prevail as in the rooting sections at Spartan football tilts.

There will be a charge of 25 cents for student body card holders at tonight's tussle; while 75 cents is the fee for outsiders.

University of Santa Clara, the Coast Guard, and Navy Pre-Flight will also be represented by organized rooting sections. The Santa Clara band will also be present.

Turn-Around ASB Dance Planned For January 15

"Turn-around is fair play; so the girls will take the boys to the next student body dance scheduled to be held in the Men's gym Friday, January 15, following the Spartan-Naval Reserve game in the Civic auditorium," states dance chairman Ed Kincaid.

Slated as a "backward" dance, the central idea of the affair will be for the girls to reverse the time-honored convention which decrees that the males bear the brunt of the worries and expenses incurred in dating. Next Friday the young co-eds will have the task of inviting their dates, escorting them to and from the dance, and buying the after-dance coke.

Decorations for the dance will follow a comic section theme with the walls of the gym covered with cartoons of the comic section characters that fill the funny paper sections of the daily newspapers.

Admission to the dance will be free to student body card holders, and 40 cents to outsiders accompanied by student body members. Music will be off-the-record.

Book Exchange

Students who have not claimed books can get them from 10:00 to 1:00 Monday.

Student Book Exchange will be opened only at that time. Claimants are asked to be sure to have stubs.

SAN JOSE WOMEN'S CLUB SCENE OF SPORT DANCE SPONSORED BY ERO SOPHIAN SOCIETY FOR BENEFIT OF "SEND A DAILY TO CAMP," OTHER WAR FUNDS

It'll be dressy sport at the Ero Sophian "Send a Daily to Camp" dance tomorrow night from 9 to 1 in the San Jose Woman's club, announces Lucette De Canniere, general dance chairman.

The Eros, on-campus social sorority, are sponsoring the dance for the benefit of several campus war agencies, and are absorbing all expenses themselves. Most of the contributions, however, will be turned over to the "Send A Daily to Camp" fund. This fund was founded for the purpose of mailing copies of the Spartan Daily to former State students now serving with the United States armed services in the four corners of the world.

Music for the dance will be provided through the courtesy of Bill Bristol and his P.A. system.

Bristol has promised to feature his smoothest recordings of the nation's hit parade bands.

ERO TRIO SINGS

Intermission entertainment will feature the popular campus songbirds, the Ero Trio. The Trio, composed of Jane Reed, Betty Stuhlman, and Barbara Trelease will offer for the first time a "tune of the times" number, composed especially for the occasion.

Decorations for the dance, under the chairmanship of Pledge President Jo Ann Sweeney, will carry out the theme. The Ero pledges will be entrusted with the task of decorating the club.

Bids for the dance may be purchased from any member of the society or in the Controller's office for $1.10 (including tax), states Jeannette Owen, bid head. Bids to be sold at the door.

Patrons and patronesses for the dance as announced by Ero President Marge Behrman will be: Dr. and Mrs. R. Mosher, Dr. and Mrs. B. Gregory, Miss Helen Dimmick, Miss Lucy Lawson, Miss Corinne Davis and Dr. and Mrs. James DeVoss.

Ero pledges who will be honored at the dance are Jo Ann Sweeney, president; Betty Barnard, Betty Bariteau, Georgie Buckingham, Anna May Diffinn, Virginia Dorsey, Phyllis Elmer, Eva Gire, Clara Hasen, Marianne Hayes, Betty James, Jeanne Kay, Marian Nash, Charlotte Lund, Roberta Ramsey, Jane Roberts, Sylvia Ronning, Joan Ross, Louise Saso, Janis Shephard, Alice Sloan, Elizabeth Stice, Nettie Suhlisen and Danna Lee Trimble.

Revelries Scripts Deadline Set For Monday At 12

Deadline for Spartan Revelries applications and scripts is definitely set for 12 o'clock Monday, warns Student Body President Tom Taylor, who is also a member of the Revelries committee.

SCRIPT SUBMITTED

Thus far only one script has been submitted, while Bill Kidwell sent in an application for director, Weber Lund sent one in for business manager, and Darrell Bond filed one, but not for any definite position.

The script turned in is the original work of four Spartan students—Elsie Benje, Jack Miller, Bert Holland and Ed Kincaid. All scripts and applications are to be turned in to the Student Body President's office, located in the Student Union.

COMMITTEE MEMBERS

Other members on the committee who will make all selections and appointments are faculty representatives Ted Hatlen and Lawrence Mendenhall, and Student Council members Izzy Gold and Arthur Inmann.

Junior Skaters To Hold Party

Getting into the spirit of things preparatory to the annual junior prom, which is to be held mid-way in February, members of the junior class will hold their first annual skating party at the Auditorium Roller rink on the Alameda Monday night.

This will be the last social event to be engineered by the present class council which ends its term today at noon. Led by President Earl Poytress, the party will be from 8:00 to 11:00 and will cost class members 35 cents for an evening of entertainment.

Although the rink cannot be closed for the party, Poytress said today that, since Monday is the least busy of all weekly nights, there should be a very small outside crowd present.

Monday Deadline For Purchase Of ASB Cards: Inman

Monday at 5 p.m. is the deadline set for the purchase of Associated Student Body cards, announces "Babe" Inman, member of the Student Council.

These cards, which can be bought at the Controller's office in the Student Union, entitle the holder to a variety of privileges, including service from the Health department, and up to 30 days' hospitalization in the Health Cottage; reduced admission to athletic and social events; the Spartan Daily; and the ability to hold office and vote.

Inman urges all students who have not yet purchased ASB cards to do so today or Monday.

KSJS Enacts Play Tomorrow, KQW

Dramatizing the first vision of just an ordinary little girl, "Joan of Arc", KSJS members will present Tom Taylor's original play, "Just a Girl", over KQW at 3:15 tomorrow.

Alice Modry will enact Joan, who finds herself very early in life appointed by God to lead her beloved France to victory. The play is allegorical in its nature, using the story of a brave French girl to glorify the spirit of the free French.

Other characters of the play include Dean Healy as Joan's father; Barbara Whittaker as Mengette; Margaret Moek as the mother; John Sayers as the narrator, and Tom Taylor as the voice.

This play marks the beginning of a new series of short plays to be presented by KSJS members over KQW every week. Most of the plays to be used for the broadcasts will be the original work of students, and each program will be student-directed and acted.

Faculty adviser for the organization, which was started in 1941, is Ward Rasmus of the Speech department.

Flute And Piano Recital Offered Tuesday Night

Playing a large variety of selections of an equally large variety of master composers, Miss Ina Mae Spink, music major and flutist of the college symphony orchestra, and Mrs. Edith Bond Eagan, wife of Thomas Eagan, will combine their talents in a flute and piano recital Tuesday evening at 8:15 o'clock in the Little Theater.

The first part of the program will feature a series of duets by Miss Spink and Mrs. Eagan. They will play selections from Bach and Kahlau.

Mrs. Eagan will then play Handel's "Suite No. 7" for pianoforte.

Works of Ibert, Debussy and Vidor will be presented by Miss Spink, followed by Brahms, Shostakovich, and Chopin, by Mrs. Eagan.

The two will again combine their talents in Gaubert's "Trois-ieme Sonate" for flute and piano.

Ushers for the affair are to be members of the Phi Mu chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon, while Peter Mingrone of the Speech department is in charge of lighting.

Also scheduled for music lovers' entertainment is the Faculty Chamber Music concert, which will be held in the Little Theater February 11.

"Opinions Please" Will Be Held In Student Union

The Student Union will be the scene of the first of a new series of combined discussions, bull sessions, and dancing that will be held tonight at 7:30.

All students are invited to these sessions, which will be called "Opinions Please". One meeting will be held at least every two weeks, and the whole theme will be informality, announces Jim Nordyke, one of the students preparing the series.

Homer Loh, Chinese graduate student who studied at the University of Pennsylvania, will be the first speaker. He is traveling in the interest of Chinese students, and his subject will be "Students in Changing China".

The program will begin with 30 minutes of group singing, followed by an hour and a half devoted to the speaker or panel discussions. The evening will be concluded by an hour of dancing.

Subjects planned for the future include "Know Your Student Government", "Behind the Scenes With Labor and Industry", "Newspapers of America", "Presenting America's Faiths" (a panel of three prominent religious leaders), and "Europe and a People's War".

Loh To Speak At "Opinions Please"

Homer Loh, guest speaker at the first of a series of student gatherings entitled "Opinions Please", will be honored at a Cosmopolitan club party Saturday night at the Student Center, 120 E. San Antonio street.

Starting at 8 o'clock, the party will feature country dancing and refreshments. There is no charge for admission, and everyone is invited, according to Chris Eala, chairman.

DAY EDITOR (this issue) WALLY TRABING

Don't Let Them Down!!!

There is nothing more heart-warming to one far from home than word from friends and neighbors—but often!

To those of us entering college from surrounding cities comes acknowledgement of this fact. But imagine the loneliness and despair that must confront our country's millions of service men who leave so abruptly from homes and friends for battlefields and training stations all over the world!

Last year, to help bring news to State men in the service, approximately 400 Spartan Dailies were sent out every day. Money for this endeavor was obtained from appropriations and student body donations. At that time, 400 was a fair proportion of the San Jose State college men working for Uncle Sam.

And, evidently, the cost seemed trivial and the need more pressing in the early stages of the war. For, today, with 1568 stars on our service flag, a mere 100 are now recipients of the Daily. This is due, mainly, to lack of funds—AND lack of student body interest. The loss of addresses, in some cases, has also resulted in curtailment.

But with the slight renewal of concern shown here recently, Ero Sophians have obligingly entered into the spirit with their "Send a Daily to Camp" dance to be held tomorrow night, and it shouldn't be difficult to start the ball rolling again.

There are at least 500 more college students registered this quarter than there are Spartans in the service. Therefore, if mailing cost per issue for the remainder of the year does not exceed 20 cents, total expense for each one of us would be nearly 14 cents. Surely, other college organizations will muster enough strength, between dances, to collect funds and to help greatly appreciated campus news to our fighting men.

—Sableman.

Scrap The "Stab In The Back"

For over a year now the American public has been bombarded with those super-jingoisms "stab in the back, dastardly, treacherous," and so on, all describing the Jap attack on Pearl Harbor until we are beginning to get so sick of them that we turn a mottled green as each new patriot goes through his song and dance.

Morally this war is taking on a Hollywood complexion with the Japs in the standard role of villain. We even go so far as to "celebrate" the December 7 morning that is labeled by all clear thinkers as a blot upon the escutcheon of America's armed forces.

But to return to the stab in the back. Should Mr. Moto have called up the White House and politely informed the government officials that war was impending? Should he have considerably flung the gage of battle in our faces and told us that his fleet was on its way to Pearl Harbor? A long time ago there used to be an axiom that all was fair in love and war—since when has this been discarded?

Before screams of horror and misinterpretation arise, we hasten to state that we are not a Jap or a Jap sympathizer, but at the same time we cannot see why the newsreel men, the newspaper men and radio commentators don't junk that stab in the back line of propaganda. Everyone who has progressed beyond the first grade in reading is effectively learning to hate the Japs and we are all being geared to the war effort.

So please, gentlemen, let us admit that the United States made a mistake, was beaten to the punch fairly as allowed by the "rules" of war, and let's work twice as hard to wipe out this initial defeat.

—Cook.

Spartans In The Service

Now serving in the U. S. Army was so heavy I couldn't think of leaving my post . . . I couldn't even move.

Now serving in the U. S. Army Air Corps at Salinas, Bob (On My Honor) Conner holds a position on the camp newspaper. The following are excerpts from a recent letter received by the Daily from Conner.

"I was an M. P. for a while (why, I don't know). The job darn near drove me and my one red corpuscle wild, so I got transferred. They used to load me up with guns, ammunition, gas mask, steel helmet, and overcoat, and send me out on a post. The junk

KSJS CALLING

Radio—the living organism of reproduction! Today it's just a youngster, full of vitality and raring to go, for tomorrow's world will be a radio world.

KSJS members of State's radio speaking society are growing up with this youngster, and tomorrow they will be among the actors, technicians, executives, and writers of a world-wide radio setup, for already they are writing their own scripts, presenting their own plays over KQW every week. In 1941 they even had the opportunity to broadcast their original work over an NBC coast-to-coast hookup.

Realizing what unique and exceptional work these students in KSJS were turning out, Miss Florence Bryant, English and radio writing instructor here, wrote an interesting informational article for the December, 1942, El Padre, a Santa Clara teachers' magazine on the radio activities at State. She told briefly of its recent beginning under the leadership of Dr. William McCord and its rapid growth in the last two years and also commended many of the students who have helped the organization of its way.

Under the instruction of Ray Irwin and Ward Rasmus, KSJS have since 1941 presented weekly radio plays every quarter except the last one. However, last quarter the group very successfully presented Orson Welles' startling version of H. G. Wells' "War of the Worlds" in the Little Theater.

In noting the students who have already made a name for themselves in the radio world, Miss Bryant told of Jean Holloway, former State student, who is now writing plays for Kate Smith and Lionel Barrymore in New York for NBC.

Tomorrow afternoon KSJS students will start a new quarter off by presenting Tom Taylor's play, "Just a Girl", over KQW at 3:15. To provide entertainment for radio audiences that include you and you, these students have worked (actually labored) 8, 9 or 10 hours to present a 15-minute production.

JUST AMONG OURSELVES

By DR. T. W. MacQUARRIE
President San Jose State College

A November to remember.

First, we were placed on the approved list of the Association of American Universities—and then on the blacklist of the American Federation of Musicians. Distinctions crowd in upon us.

For the AAU we are filled with pride and a deep sense of gratitude. For the AFM—we are proud of that, too, for it means that we have refused to bow the knee to James Caesar Petrillo.

Here are the facts: Our seniors contracted with a "big name" to bring his orchestra to the party. We agreed to $500—which was our mistake. No turn-out outfit in the world is worth that much.

We had heard, also, that the fellow was inclined to be supercilious about the sticks. He had been known to bring a pick-up orchestra instead of his own, and he was usually so bored with the small towns that he seldom appeared in person, or, at most, for only a few minutes.

The seniors stipulated in the contract, and in a supporting letter, that the great one should bring his own players and come himself—hauteur and all.

The time arrived—and a pick-up orchestra! It was even reported to the local musicians' union as another orchestra, one that we could have hired for $165. The fellow himself showed up for only a short time, and then he sauntered off to his room for a nap. Some of the seniors actually had to go and wake him up, and demand that he get on the job.

The upshot was that we refused to pay the tribute money, and offered to pay $200, which is far more than the service was worth.

Wide awake now, the fellow stormed and threatened—and the members of the orchestra, too, I understand, made an unpleasant fuss. The "big name" would report us to the AFM and they would put us on their blacklist. So he did, and they did—and we didn't. And I hope we never do so far forget our good, old-fashioned Americanism as to give in to a racket-like that.

We are still willing to pay that $200—but not one cent for tribute. These are fighting days.

Introducing...

Phineas Papworth Takes His Bow!

Phineas Papworth IV was downright miserable. A second-quarter frosh, an ERC reservist, and, of all things non-essential to the war effort, an English lit. major—that was Phineas. Enough to disgust the staunchest son of Sparta!

Everything in particular was going wrong for Phineas yesterday. As every good reservist, English lit major or no, did, Phineas signed up for trig this quarter. He had hated math ever since the fifth grade, and math hated him. He regarded it as a mundane tool for such uncolorful folk as bookkeepers, astronomers, and Henry Kaiser, none of whom, Phineas was certain, appreciated the ecstasies of the immortal bards.

Now he was trying to understand tangents, secants, and cosines while he was still a little dubious about the cube root of Mr. Five by Five.

"Well, life's like that," he decided, trudging over to the Spartan Shop to split a bromo with his pal, Slinky. Both of them were counting on the gas it generated to keep them afloat in the pool during their ensuing PEV class.

All morning Phineas had had a feeling some one was following him. As he cut across the campus, he peeked over his shoulder, and then he was sure. Hot on his trail, 75 feet back, was the same fellow, much taller than Phineas, and stupid-looking, Phineas thought.

The pursuing student kept jotting notes on a little pad of scratch paper. Phineas slowed down until his follower had overtaken him, then turned and confronted the stranger.

"See here," he challenged.

"You've been trailing me all morning. I demand an explanation!"

"You're Papworth, aren't you?"

"Yes. Phineas Papworth, the Fourth!"

"No, no, not that! There couldn't have been three others like you."

"Well, there were. We Papworths come from a long line!"

shown a genuine interest in 'our' college paper. That is something for which the college and yourselves may be justly proud. Again, many thanks.

"Yours sincerely,
"A-C William Melton."

TIME WAS

By BOYD HAIGHT

—When there were so many women and so few men on the campus, that the males took refuge in a spot on the campus where no female dared to tread. This was known as the "Bull Pen" and it was located in the area surrounded by the circle of palm trees on the east side of the campus between the present commerce wing and the volleyball courts. The outnumbered and harassed men of the "good old days" ate their lunches, smoked and talked freely "in the pen" without fear of the many-petticoated women who swarmed the campus.

At this early date in '43 no situation seems to exist, but with the prospect of many of the 600 men in reserves being called to active service before the year is over, there is a possibility that the 4F's, married men, and remaining reservists may again have to set aside a sanctuary where brief freedom from crowds of women may be enjoyed.

—When the State campus was a park covering Washington Square. It was a favorite Sunday recreational spot within the city limits of San Jose. There was a tree-lined drive around the campus over which the socially eminent of San Jose weekly drove in their sukkies and buggies purely for the entertainment of a Sunday drive. Traces of the roadway may be seen at various places on the edges of the campus where a few of the elms lining the drive are still standing.

—When the young and virtuous girls attending San Jose Normal were the attraction for the scores of young men from San Francisco who every weekend bicycled down the peninsula for a Sunday "date" with the future teachers.

Exasperated, Phineas paused for breath. "Say, what's your line? Who are you, anyway?"

"Pappy, old boy, you'd better learn to love me. I'm a Daily reporter, and I've got to write everything you do, every day. You're a typical campus character. You know, man on the street stuff."

"Listen, I don't like you and I won't stand for this! What's more, I'm not typical, either."

"Well, you're a character, anyhow."

So when the Scribe left Phineas yesterday, both were downright miserable.

First Of Four Doubleheaders Finds San Jose State Matched Against Pre-Flight At 7:30, With Broncos Meeting Alameda Coast Guard In Nightcap At 8:45

By SEBASTIAN SQUATRITO

Inaugurating the first of four basketball doubleheaders set for every Friday night this month, the San Jose State college Spartans meet the undefeated high scoring St. Mary's Pre-Flight team at 7:30 p. m. in the Civic auditorium tonight. Santa Clara University tangle with the Alameda Coast Guard in the nightcap about 8:45.

Playing their first game since the last day of school last quarter, the Staters will find themselves bucking the strongest rated team in the Northern California area on the short end of 4-1

Boxing Entries In All-College Tourney Reviewed

Yesterday's Spartan Daily carried a partial list of the fighters who are grooming themselves for the soon-coming All-College Boxing Tournament, which is scheduled to be held in San Jose's Civic auditorium next Thursday night.

Today this list will be added to, starting where yesterday's article left off—the 155-lb. division.

155-LB. DIVISION

Roy Diederichsen: Fought in last year's Novice tournament, gaining a draw in the finals with Bud Roberts. Has quite a bit of experience.

Wayne Fontes: Won first-place honors in this year's Novice, scoring a surprise decision over favored Bryan Bradford. Fontes is a little overweight, and may have to step up a notch into the 165-lb. class.

Bob Mason: Competed in this year's Novice, losing to Bradford in the semi-finals.

Tom Griffin: Hasn't fought in quite a while. Won the Novice as a freshman—is a senior now.

165-LB. DIVISION

Stan Smith: Boxing Coach Dee Portal is having a hard time trying to find an opponent for him. Smith has had a lot of ring experience. Came within a gnat's eyelash of winning the PCI title in his weight last year—a cut over his eye keeping him from nabbing the crown. Fontes is a possible opponent, but only if he can't get his weight down.

(NOTE: Monday's paper will carry names and records of entries in the 175-lb. and heavy-weight divisions.)

Swimmers Start Practice Sessions Under New Coach

The varsity swimming squad started practicing last Monday under Coach Claude Horan, who graduated from San Jose State last March. There are four veterans from last year's squad back. They are Roger Frelter, breast-stroker; Joe Weltzenberg, free-styler; Pres Kendall, and Carl Hazeltine. Two new men, Rudlof, breast-stroker, and Richardson, who is a transfer from San Francisco Junior college, have been outstanding in practice sessions thus far.

For the last four years the Spartan squad has won the CCAA championships. Last year Weltzenberg won the Northern California free-style championship, and Frelter won the 200-yard breast-stroke.

As yet the schedule for this year is not definite, but the mermen expect to meet California, Stanford, the Olympic Club, the San Francisco "Y" and the Athens Club. "Tiny" Hartranft will have the definite schedule in a few days.

Inter-Fraternity: Turn in lists for scholarship today.—Orlyn Gire.

WHEN YOU BUY, MENTION THE "DAILY"

betting odds when they take to the floor tonight.

Although the Air Devils lost six cadets through graduation to naval reserve air bases, they'll be just as good or better as they were early this season when they easily defeated California by scores of 45 to 39, and 53 to 35, and Stanford, last year's National Inter-collegiate Champs, by scores of 54-34 and 54-39.

NEW CENTERS

Replacing centers Ens. Bill McDonald of Washington and Cadet Merrill Ostrus of Missouri State, are newcomers Ens. Dale Gentry, former Washington State basketball and football ace, and Grant Denmark, Long Beach J. C. giant. McDonald has been transferred to Moffett Field, while Ostrus is one of the six graduates.

Bert Robinson, senior guard, was elected 1943 cage captain by the Spartan basketball squad last night.

Others lost by graduation are Dick Kinsella of Marin J. C., Jim Johnson of Aurora (Ill.), Don Edwards of St. Thomas, Herbert Ahrens of Minnesota and Bill Markwith of Los Angeles City college.

REPLACING THEM

Replacing them are Lt. (jg) Sam Elliott, guard and Southern California captain in 1934; Lt. (jg) O. W. McDowell, center from Columbia, and Yeoman Paul Valenti, guard from Oregon State. Other players on the squad are Ens. Angelo Luisetti (averaged 19 per game this season), Lt. (jg) Jack Holstine, Washington State; Lt. (jg) Hal Elfert, California; Ens. Ralph Hillsman, SFJC and UC.

Backing these men are Lt. (jg) Ruel Woods, Washington State; Ens. John Morrow USC, and Cadet Don Boysen, San Jose State's own scoring star the past two seasons.

CAPABLE OF SPREE

Thus it's easy to see why Coach Ed Blesh's team is given very little chance of scoring a win. However, the quiet Spartan mentor has a team which is capable of going on a scoring spree at any unpredictable time. They proved this by trampling a favored USF five 43 to 35. In this game the Spartans made 12 out of 20 shots in the first half, or 60 per cent, "which ain't hay."

All week long Blesh has concentrated on offense, and with speedsters Cas Breuer and Willie Gamboa out in front, the Spartans will try to run the flyers dizzy tonight. At center will be Elwood Clark, while Roy Diederichsen and Bert Robinson, only seniors in the starting lineup, will hold down the guard duties.

Tonight's probably starting line-ups:

FROSH DROP THRILLER TO EXCHANGE LINEN LAST NIGHT; MEET PREPS THIS AFTERNOON

Commanding a one-point lead with three minutes left in the game, San Jose's frosh cagers faltered momentarily and allowed the Exchange Linen independent quintet to score three quick baskets and capture the game, 31 to 26, last night in the Men's gym.

The contest was very hard-fought and was much closer than the score indicated, with not more than five points separating the teams throughout.

Jerry Vroom started the scoring with a basket from the free throw lane, and Neal and Colla retaliated with two baskets for the Exchange Linen to start a closely-played first canto. At the half-time the Exchange Linen lads held a slim 19 to 16 lead over Bill Perry's proteges.

In the second half the Spartlets came back on the floor with an improved game, and were out to get the scalps of the Linen lads. They had things pretty much their own way until the final minutes when they lost their shooting eye and the visitors forged ahead to put the game on ice.

Play in the last few minutes became very rough and ragged, with little organization on the part of either five.

Scoring was very evenly divided with Neal of Exchange Linen leading the parade with eight markers. The frosh will again go into action this afternoon when they tangle with the Santa Clara preps in the Men's gym at 4 o'clock. There will be no admission charged for this contest.

WALTER R. CALVIN

at the Naval Air Training Center in Corpus Christi, Texas, recently.

Before pinning on the coveted "Navy Wings of Gold", the distinguishing mark of a naval aviator, Ensign Calvin and other members of the class were addressed by Rear Admiral Alfred E. Montgomery, USN, commandant of the training center.

Ensign Calvin volunteered for flight training last February and received preliminary flight instruction at the Oakland reserve aviation base. He was then transferred to the world's largest naval air station, "The University of the Air", for intermediate and advanced instruction.

Upon successful completion of this training, embracing an intensive ground school course in addition to many hours of flight training, Calvin is prepared for duty with the fleet. Or, he may be selected as an instructor to teach one of the many phases of aeronautics to young men in their initial stages of flight training.

WOMEN LEAD OVER MEN IN DONATIONS OF BLOOD PLASMA

Thirty-eight more students registered to give blood to the Red Cross yesterday, bringing closing sign-ups at Alpha Phi Omega's booth in the quad to a two-day total of 88.

Students under 21 years of age who registered yesterday but did not receive parents' consent blanks can get these by the middle of next week in the Health office, according to Miss Margaret Twombly, associate professor of health and hygiene. Both parents must give written permission before the students may give blood.

Women registrants were in the majority over men by the scant margin of two, with 45 signing up. Volunteers under 21 numbered 63, while 25 students over 21 registered.

Blood will be given when the mobile blood unit of the San Francisco Red Cross is in San Jose the fourth Monday of each month.

VICTORY BOOK CAMPAIGN NOW UNDER WAY HERE

"Books for Service Men" is the purpose of the Victory Book campaign now under way on the San Jose State campus to provide much-needed reading material for men in the armed services.

Up-to-date technical books as well as late fiction best-sellers are the type of book that Miss Joyce Backus, college librarian, hopes will be contributed to the campaign.

Boxes have been placed throughout the library where books may be left. Books about nothing in particular that came off the press twenty years ago, or dog-eared mystery novels dug up out of the attic are not wanted.

"We hope that students will give books that are being currently read—books of value and of interest to the service man," comments Miss Backus.

The on-campus campaign is a part of the nation-wide effort sponsored by the Red Cross, the American Library association, and the United Service organizations. Miss Backus is directing the college campaign, and, in addition, she is chairman of the San Jose Victory Book committee. She was appointed head of the committee yesterday at a meeting in the treasury room of the college library.

The accepted painting was a picture done by Dr. Reitzel last summer near Pigeon Point, north of Santa Cruz.

Dr. Reitzel was awarded a prize in an exhibit of the same type in the Chicago Galleries several years ago. This prize painting is now in the Templeton-Crocker collection.

AFTER-GAME DANCE PLANNED BY NEWMAN CLUB TONIGHT; ALL STUDENTS INVITED TO ATTEND
